DEVELOPING CLEAN-CUT SOLUTIONS

Atlanta, GA – May 2004: Amware Logistics Services was recently awarded a contract to distribute products for a renowned California-based health and beauty care (HBC) products supplier. The product line consists of disposable razors, shaving creams and gels, and face care products.

Originally centralized at a distribution point in Bentonville, Arkansas, this new client approached Amware after their prior warehouse location was sold and all occupants were forced out. Backed into restructuring their logistics program, they sought a more effective means of servicing clients up and down the eastern seaboard, including Florida.

This client was impressed with Amware's proven craftsmanship in all essential areas: case pick, piece-pick and pack, bundling, labeling, display building, shrinkwrapping, and on pack packaging. As a result, a contract was quickly awarded.

The advantages they are now realizing include better systems, faster turnaround times, and craftsmen who offer hands-on experience with similar product types. Amware was there when this client needed quick answers, and we have helped propel their standards of service to a whole new level. To change their logistics program was an unforeseen event, but the outcome has directly benefited them and their customers.
